WHY GROUP WORK?

- Promotes exchange and perspective-taking
- Promotes (further) development of social and communication skills
- Enables more complex projects
- Prepares you for professional practice

You will encounter group work throughout your studies

CHALLENGES IN GROUPS

Different working styles & expectations

Unequal workload distribution

Time management & availability

Misunderstandings & conflicts

WHAT IS A CODE OF CONDUCT?

- A set of rules for respectful and productive collaboration
- A foundation for teamwork and conflict resolution
- A commitment and form of security for each group member

CODE OF CONDUCT: YOUR IDEAS

Task: Get together in pairs and discuss your expectations of a good group work. Add at least two expectations to the Menti.

CONTENT OF A CODE OF CONDUCT

- Communication: regular, open, respectful, reliable
- Clear role and task distribution: transparent and fair
e.g. team roles based on Belbin (my study)
- Realistic deadlines: commitment & punctuality
- Conflict resolution strategies / agreed behavior when problems occur

Tip: Keep a shared document to record everything and make it accessible to all group members

CHECKLIST FOR SUCCESSFUL GROUP WORK

Have we created a code of Conduct?

Are roles and responsibilities clearly assigned?

Do we have realistic deadlines?

Do we have established communication channels?

How many people are necessary for each task?

Don't be afraid of criticism!

HOW TO STRUCTURE A GROUP MEETING?

- ✓ Meeting in person if possible
- ✓ Share current state, availabilities
- ✓ How much time do we have? What do we want to talk about?
- ✓ Distribute new tasks with deadline
- ✓ Schedule new meeting
